Christmas In Israel
The Ethiopian Version

Ethiopians Celebrate Christmas In Israel. In traditional vestments, this Ethiopian monk prepares to lead Christmas services in Israel. Their unusual and colorful ceremonies take place in an ancient Ethiopian chapel on the roof of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem's Old City. The Ethiopian Christians celebrate Christmas Jan. 6 and 7.

By Sybil Kaufmann

JERUSALEM -- While the rest of the world is dismantling Christmas trees and considering New Year's resolutions, an ancient community of black-skinned Ethiopian Christians in Jerusalem begin their colorful Christmas ceremonies in a richly decoratec chapel on the roof of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

Deep within the winding paths of the walled old city of Jerusalem, 50 black monks and 10 nuns conduct all night Christmas services on January 6 and 7, dates based on the Ethiopian claendar. There is a constant coming and going to pilgrims who attend these unusual services. About 100 Ethiopian Christians have sought refuge here in recent years and they have been warmly received by the Israelis.

"I hope His birth has come to you in light," is the phrase uttered on Christmas by the Ethiopians in their language of Amharic. It is comparable to "Merry Christmas." This greeting, repeated over and over, is just a part of a Christmas service that includes colorful bestments, drums and music. The participants in the ceremonies dress in dramatic velvet robes. The capes, which reach to the floor, are heavily embroidered in gold and silver threads outlining such symbols as the lion of Judah and the star of David -- which is also the insignia of the State of Israel. The star of David is particularly significant to the Ethiopians. They believe that King David of Israel was the grandfather of their church, which was founded by King Menelik -- the son of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

The 40 days before the Ethiopian Christmas, the Ethiopians eat only vegetables in the afternoon; they do not even allow themselves eggs or milk. On the day before Christmas, there is a strict fasting except for a little food at noon. Then nothing is eaten until the morning of Christmas day, January 6. The official Christmas prayers begin at about 8 p.m. on January 5 in the chapel on the roof of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in the old city of Jerusalem. (The church of the Holy Sepulchre is revered by Christians as the site of the tomb of Jesus from which he rose.) The church is especially holy to the Ethiopians because they say it is adjacent to the site which was given to them in the days of King Solomon.

Services in the chapel on the roof continue until 2:00 a.m. and include the playing of traditional instruments -- the drum and a kind of metal cymbal -- first used in the temples of ancient Egypt.

The Ethiopians stand praying for many hours. They carry with them a special wooden stick about four-and-a-half feet tall with a carved silver top. In Ethiopia the lifting of the stick up and down is used for indicating rhythm in liturgical-type dances. The church people in Israel also use the stick for support while praying since they have been fasting and might be weakened.

After the services at about 3:00 a.m., the worshipers enjoy a meal. At five in the morning they all go to Bethlehem to pray in the Grotto of Nativity, the traditional birth place of Jesus.

These unique ceremonies are repeated year after year in Jerusalem by these dignified Christians from Africa. The Ethiopians are known in Israel for their quiet-spoken politeness and their sense of charity and concern for other people.

Ethiopian Christians live in several locations in Israel. In addition to the Archbishop's residence and Deir es-Sultan (the two chapels atop the roof of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre,) the Ethiopian church has six monasteries in Israel - three in Jerusalem and others in Bethany, Jericho and near the Jordan River, the place believed to be the site of Jesus' baptism. These Ethiopian holy places, as all Christian sites in Israel, enjoy the help and protection of the Israeli government.

Apostle W.B. Searcy

An Old Fasion Holy Ghost Revival Meeting

Where?

Emmanuel Temple Church Of God In Christ

BISHOP R.E. ALTHEIMER, JURISDICTION BISHOP AND PASTOR

WHEN? JANUARY 3, 1977

CONDUCTOR: APOSTLE W.B. SEARCY, Seattle, Washington

Yes, Brethern, I, Apostle W.B. Searcy, an Apostle not by the will of man, but by the will of God.

Now, one brother said I should prove my Apostleship by writing a Bible. For his information, Bishop C. H. Mason was our Chief Apostle from 1907 to 1961. I have yet to see or read a Bible written by Bishop Mason. God gave Bishop Mason, the FOUNDER o the Church of God in Christ, the revelation for this great church and its doctrine. This is indisputable. Now, he didn't attempt to write another Bible, but God gave him the church's name and its doctrine out of the writings of the Apostle Paul. I will say to that brother, get out of the flesh; rededicate and reconsecrate your life to God - and you won't be making these foolish statements.

ORDER OF SERVICE

Beginning January 3, 1977, there will be one hour of prayer from 7:30 P.M. to 8:30 P.M. After the prayer we will acknowledge a scripture being read and go home. For the first week this is all that we are going to do. Every saint who wants to rededicate his or her life should attend this one week of prayer and rededication. Brother ministers, you come and share it. The people aren't going to be any more consecrated than we are.

Now, the second week prayer service will begin at 7:00 P.M.; Regular worship 8:00 P.M.; ministering of the word at 9:00 P.M.; prayer for the sick and altar call at 9:45 P.M. Offertory as you leave the sanctuary . Jesus said, he that believeth in me, the works that I do shall he do also and greater works than these because I go unto my father. Bro. minister, if you don't have a miracle ministry, you have been short changed by the devil.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

For further information feel free to call Bishop R.E. Altheimer, 475-3823 or Apostle W.B. Searcy, 329-1710.

Senator Newschwander's Committees Announced

State Senator Charles Newschwander, R-Tacoma, was recently elected by his peers to head the Senate Republican caucus.

As the Republican Caucus Chairman, Newschwander will direct the discussions and actions of the members when in caucus meetings.

In addition to his new duty, Newschwander will serve as a member of the two most powerful committees in the Legislature. He will be on the Senate Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Rules Committee.

As a Senate Ways and Means Committee member, Newschwander will have a hand in the writing of the biennial budget.

While serving on the Senate Rules Committee, Newschwander will be able to cast a vote on which matters should be passed on to the full Senate for final consideration.

The Tacoma dentist has also been assigned to serve on the Senate Natural Resources Committee. One of the duties these committee members will undertake will be a review of the Indian fishing rights question.

Newschwander is serving his fourth session in the Senate. He represented the 28th District for four sessions in the House prior to his 1969 election to the Senate.

Metropolitan Development Council Offers Housing Counseling

The Housing Counseling program is concerned with money management problems of homeowners. At the present, MDC is the only agency in Tacoma that is conducting housing counseling concerned with delinquency and default problems associated with home ownership. This program is a free service of MDC, located at 1016 S. "L" Street.

At the present, MDC has no funds to continue this service. MDC has submitted applications for funds to serve between 15 - 20 clients a month. The applications have been submitted to the Department of Community Development and several other sources; however, no funds have been procured to this date. The Department of Community Development has applied for its second year funding under the CD Act of 1974 for the sum of 2.459 million dollars to support various projects in Tacoma. Public hearings are being held at Grant Elementary school on January 6th, 1977, and Truman Elementary School January 12th, 1976. Both hearings begin at 7:30 p.m.

How Good A Shopper Are You?

Being a good shopper depends on two basic things: Comparison shopping among stores and comparison shopping among items.

Do you know how to tell a good buy from a not-so-good one? Take this short quiz and find out.

• Do you try to buy when the price is right? Often, lowest prices are on a weekend. But look carefully in a store for pricing patterns.

• How do you choose citrus fruit? The best ones are heavy for their size, since weight is indicative of juice content. Skin should be thin and fine textured, and the fruit should be firm.

• Do you look for specials on baked goods? Day-old baked products, especially breads and rolls are easily revived with toasting or re-warming in the oven. They are often sold at half price.

• Do you try new products that offer something better or different? For example, new Super Mott's Prune Juice contains 10 percent more prune solids than required by U.S. government regulations.

• Do you determine the approximate cost per serving when buying meat? Divide the price per pound by the number of servings per pound. You'll find that the cheapest cuts are not always the most economical.

Do follow these tips and your comparison shopping may be beyond comparison.

BLACK POETRY

Thoughts

Why can't I stop caring
For people and places and things?
Why can't I stop sharing others' hurts, and dangers
That carelessness brings?
What makes me this way?
Why must I be
So concerned about others'
wants and needs?
What makes me pity others
that walk over me?
And criticize and deceive
my trust?
Answer me quickly, and quietly
And make me see
That the fault must be my cross to bear.

Date: Friday, January 14, 1977
Time: 1:30 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.

America's First Black UN Ambassador Could Lead To Progressive Foreign Policy

In his first public statement after being designated as President-elect Carter's ambassador to the United States Congressman Andrew Young said that it is necessary that the United States "aggressively pursue majority rule in southern Africa."

Foreign affairs experts had been speculating that the appointment of a Black American to represent the United States before the international council would signify a new emphasis on African affairs by the incoming Carter Administration. Young made the statement in response to remarks by Carter that he expected his new ambassador to represent this country in a moral light.

When news first began to emerge last week that Young would get the U.N. post, it was noted that Black freedom fighters in South Africa and Zimbabwe were likely to be encouraged by the fact that America's new international emissary had endured a protracted struggle for civil rights and against violent oppression in his own country not so long ago. Young was a deputy to Martin Luther King Jr., in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and he was one of the key planners of many civil rights marches and demonstrations during the 1960s.

Even before he got the U.N. job, people had begun to note that it would be difficult to conceivé of Young casting typical U.S. votes against enforcing arms and trade embargoes on the white minority governments in southern Africa. It would also take considerable imagination to think of Young vetoing Vietnam's bid to join the U.N. He was an early critic of American involvement in the war in Indochina.

Young is expected to wield a strong influence in the formulation of U.S. foreign policy in his new post, because of his close personal association with President-elect Carter. Several times in the past, major political figures have been "buried" in the U.N. job.

President Kennedy named Adlai Stevenson to the U.N., then all but ignored him in the decision-making process. President Johnson appointed Arthur Goldberg to the position, in effect luring him away from the Supreme Court and appeasing Democratic "doves" while he pursued a hard line on Vietnam.

Barbara Jordan is said to have turned down Carter's offer of the U.N. position, and several of Young's friends and aides advised him to remain in the House of Representatives. But, in accepting the job last week, Young said he believes if offers "a tremendous potential."

Andrew Young

Aside from any personal loyalties, Carter owes a substantial political debt to Andrew Young. The Georgia congressman was an early and consistent supporter of the Carter presidential campaign, especially instrumental in garnering the Black vote, which most people consider to have been responsible for Carter's margin of victory over President Ford.

Young was elected to Congress from Atlanta's 5th District in 1972, although he had run unsuccessfully in 1970. He won re-election overwhelmingly in 1974 and again last month.

He was born in New Orleans and was educated at Howard University and the Hartford Theological Seminary in Hartford, Conn. He is a minister in the United Church of Christ and served as associate director of youth work for the National Council of Churches before he joined the SCLC in 1961.

Young is married and has four children.

Miss Black America of 1976-77, the vivacious Twanna Kilgore, 22, of Washington, D.C., headed a variety revue program for the USO Shows' 47-day tour of military bases in Germany, Italy, and Iceland. The tour also included Miss Black Texas and disco band Area Code of New York City and vicinity.

Give gold.

Do you think the gift of golden Galliano is too sentimental? Not to me. The taste of Galliano is decidedly romantic, with overtones of baroque Old World richness. According to the Italian legend, Galliano is distilled from the rays of the sun, so perhaps it would help to describe the taste as, simply, golden. But the tall bottle of golden Galliano makes a splendid gift. It isn't the thought that's sentimental. It's the gift of gold behind it.
